Nelson to Drop Nolan? CHICAGO, March 24.—Brimmer that Oscar "Batting" Nelson is about to drop Nolan as manager and again take on T. J. Murphy and make good on his word. It is said that Nelson is unable to secure any engagements anywhere in the West while Nolan is in manager, and the Purple Dome is asking for battles, and incidentally the club, Nolan's propensity to talk and kick up a row about everything has led Nelson much support.

SPORTS OF THE TIMES-DISPATCH

ELEVEN PLAYERS ALREADY HERE

Prospective Champions Are Now Coming in on Every Train.

BEGIN PRACTICE TO-DAY

Manager Will Keep Them Hard at Work Until Season Opens.

Up to a late hour last night eleven members of the Richmond ball club had reported. Manager Shaffer was hard at the Allen Hotel to welcome them, and each man seemed to be in good shape, and said he was ready to do or die.

The first to show up were Brown, the outfielder of last year, and Kirkpatrick, the new third-baseman, both of Pittsburgh. Later in the evening, Cowan appeared, and he was closely followed by men on every train that came into the city. Those who landed later were Victor Kauter, Mulhall and Derby, pitchers, and Kelly, outfielder. These, with Cassidy, Hinton and Shaffer comprise the staff now here.

Still Salvo, Long, Timman, Koller, Hoffman and O'Neil make up the lot, and all are expected here this morning. All the men who reported yesterday evening were travel-worn, and went to bed soon after supper. They will be the park early to-day to limber up, and will be taken out again this afternoon. By to-morrow Manager Shaffer will have a sufficient number here to play a game among themselves, and he will put them through the best kind of training. The spray and Turkish baths will be used, and the men will be required in training to run out to the park and back. This will get the glass out of their limbs and get them for more regular work later in the week.

The team will put up at the Allen for the present at least. Eckstone will not report until the opening of the season, or until he completes his work at Blacksburg, where he is training the baseball team at the V. P. I.

A letter received here last night from Eckstone indicates that he is getting on his feet, and is in good shape. He has arranged to play the Roanoke team on April 1st, and says he expects to put up a fast game with the professionals.

Memsic Won from Neary. MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 24.—Geo. Memsic, of Burns, got the decision over Charley Neary at Schlitz Park, last night, after one of the hardest-fought battles seen here this season. It was a fight from the opening round to the close of the tenth round. Neary's stock went "kiting" in the second round, when he knocked Memsic down, and the Chicago crowd took the count of nine. The referee seemed to favor him a little, but he clinched when on his feet and managed to stall off until the going rang. The third, however, saw him in good shape, and from that time he appeared to be gaining strength. The fourth was Memsic's good deed, and from then on he had the best of Neary. The latter, while appearing to be in good shape, could not avoid the slashing blows which Memsic rained in on him.

It might incidentally be said that his sparring partner was the recipient of his pent-up wrath.

"Well," and Burns lighted a cigar which he permits himself to smoke when not in training—"I used to play lacrosse up around Detroit, and I got so proficient at slugging with a club that I decided I would make a passing fair boxer."

I used to come up from Amherstburg, a short while and then went to Buffalo. I punched the stuffing out of a fellow named Bigger than myself, and they wanted me to become an amateur. "I was to meet some other amateur in a couple of weeks, but before the bout was to come off I signed up to fight Frankie Childs, who used to be a tiffy scrapper. That quered my other match."

"Well, I got a draw with Childs, and then went into the fighting game for all it was worth. I fought around Detroit for a while and then went to Buffalo. I fought there several times. I guess you fellows know the ring dope on me pretty well, and it's no use telling me the fight."

"Oh, I know," whiff O'Brien when we meet again. Well, you wait and see how quick I am to that fight—and see how quick I am to that fight—and see how quick I am to that fight."

Philadelphia Jack ever signed up for a return engagement with me, and I will leave it to Los Angeles sport writers as to who won the first fight.

"O'Brien was whipped, and the only thing that induced him to sign another set of articles was the $30,000 purse offered. I know his style now, and I will put over the punch before the tenth session. Wait and see if I don't."

There was nothing of the braggadochio about Burns as he prophesied O'Brien's finish. The Canadian talks quietly and there is sincerity about him.

Burns is as "wise" as any pug in the ring to-day. He is his own manager and makes all arrangements for his fights. He was clever enough to force O'Brien to give him the bonus for their coming fight. Philadelphia Jack held the whip hand on the occasion of their first meeting.

Burns has been heralded over the country as a sluggish, brutish sort of a fighter. The "dope" on the Canadian has led many to believe that he relies on brute strength and an smothering punch, while no need work to win his fights.

While he will take a punch to land one, the heavy-weight champion is no poor ring general. His plans, and his battle before he enters the ring, and adheres to the same plan throughout.

His fight with Marvin Hart showed clearly that he possesses cleverness. For twenty rounds he cut the Kentucky fighter like a hot knife through butter, and he did it with a show of cleverness that even his trainers did not know he possessed.

"When I signed with Hart my friends told me 'I was crazy,'" said Tommy. "They couldn't see anything but my finish. They said the same thing when I signed to fight O'Brien. They 'rapped' wrong both times and now if I would say that I wanted to fight Jeffries, they'd want to put me in an insane asylum."

It is not known generally that Burns is married. The husky scrapper says his wife is better than a manager when it comes to arranging his fights.

"Women have what some people call 'bums' of it, and between the two of us we have framed up my terms. We seem to work all right as a team, and when she says 'I will win I am ready to take the chance.'"

"About my challenging Jeffries," said Burns. "It's just this way. If I am successful with O'Brien and this fellow 'Squid'—for I am going to fight him, too. If he will sign up—if I polish off both of them I am going to challenge Jeff. Remember this: While I am learning more every day and improving left for left. He is going back. If anything, and by the time I have got that far along I think I will be handy enough to land the big fellow a wallop. Maybe I will get left, but I told Jeffries I wanted to fight him and he told me to make good. That is what I am going to do first. Then I will challenge him."

BENNING RACE MEET OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

UNIVERSITY MAY PLAY TULANE

Football Game Being Arranged for Christmas Day in New Orleans.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 24.—That the University of Virginia may meet the eleven representing Tulane University in football during Christmas week, or on Christmas day, in New Orleans, is not improbable.

At the suggestion of Tulane University, the General Athletic Association of that institution took the matter up at a meeting last Wednesday and considered it favorably. Manager Samuel B. Woods, Jr., of the Virginia eleven, is now in communication with the football authorities of Tulane in regard to the details for arranging a game.

APPEALS TO JOHNSON. 'Varsity Wants Last Season's Star to Play on Football Team.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 24.—Yesterday's issue of College Topics, the semi-weekly published by the General Athletic Association of the University of Virginia, contains an article, signed by a member of last year's football team, calling on Hammond Johnson, the captain and star halfback of last year's eleven, to reconsider his determination not to play football next season. The writer says: "Inasmuch as Johnson is eligible to play but one more year, and one season is not a long time, and the need of his college is great, and the prospect for a great team in 1907 are usually bright, if he should play with nine Varsity men back, I feel confident that Hammond will be unselfish enough to sacrifice his personal feelings for the welfare of his college, and be willing to play through the numerous drudgery and toil of another season in order to help Virginia, in large measure, to place in the field her greatest team."

Stucky Johnson was willing to play, and all the team return as expected, except Cooke and Randolph, these predictions for 1907 are by no means too optimistic. We should not fear to go up against any team in the country early in the season."

CURLEY ON PURE FOOD. Trainer of Fighters Tells the Stuff That Makes Molluscoides.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Jack Curley, manager of prize-fighters, agrees with government experts on the effect of various foods. "We never train a man on breakfast foods or nuts. I don't know of any man who has ever won a prize fight on a diet of breakfast foods or nuts. I don't know of any man who has ever won a prize fight on a diet of breakfast foods or nuts. I don't know of any man who has ever won a prize fight on a diet of breakfast foods or nuts."

ST LOUIS, March 24.—The highest single score made to-day in the tournament of the American Bowling Congress was made by F. Stever, of St. Joseph, Mo., who tallied 619 pins placing him third in the individuals. Other high scores were made by J. M. Moak, of St. Louis, 618; J. Randall, and R. Knox, Indianapolis, 1,693; G. G. Tolman and H. Clay, Chicago, 1,665; H. Stearns and R. Kinnaman, St. Joseph, 1,623.

619 HIGH SCORE IN BOWLING CONGRESS.

Race Meeting at Delmar. ST. LOUIS, March 22.—According to an announcement by Captain C. A. Tilles, there will be a race meet for running horses conducted by the St. Louis Racing Association from April 16th to June 16th, this year, at Delmar Race-Course. Captain Tilles says that there will be no recognized betting during the meeting, which will in any way conflict with the law.

Tommy Burns Will Fight If You Call Him a Wop. Proud of His Right Name, Noah Brusso, and Boasts of Its Fine French Lineage.

Does He Think He'll Lick O'Brien Again?—Well, Say—Just Wait and Watch a While.

By RIGHT HOOK. NEW YORK, March 23.—An inquiry of Tommy Burns as to whether his ancestors were from the sunny clime of Italy develops none of an accident, policy.

Tommy's right name is Noah Brusso. Sounds very Italian, doesn't it? Tommy or Noah—as you may see fit to call him—was asked the other night if his forebears were once Roman gladiators—or banana vendors. Tommy didn't like the interrogation. He was dressing, just before making his little bow to a "carnality house" and the scribbler who put the question was out of sight before Tommy could gather himself to give chase.

"I'm a French-Canadian," says Burns. "My father was French and my mother was Dutch. There's nothing Italian about me. Brusso is a French name and one of the oldest in the Canadian province."

Burns was called upon to tell why and how he broke into the fighting game. The French-Canadian, who is technically the king of heavy-weight fighters, was somewhat late after the interrogation regarding his parentage, but after a "swallow" with his sparring partner on the stage he came back feeling better.
